Dear Friends,
I hope my letter finds you in the best of health, wellness, and safety. It is with gratitude that I write this letter on behalf of all Mercy Without Limits staff, volunteers, and most importantly our beneficiaries. As I reflect over this past year, I am inspired by the overwhelming support Mercy Without Limits has received from our generous supporters and community members, like you. You have continuously dedicated your time, funds, and empathy to those who needed it the most. That spirit of connection and understanding, is what we, at Mercy Without Limits treasure so dearly. We know, when our efforts combine towards common goals, we can make a difference in the lives of hundreds. In the past year alone, we have sponsored 5,271 orphaned children, distributed food packages to over 200,000 individuals, facilitated the distribution of emergency resources to 15,000 individuals, provided health services to 200,000 people, and covered the educational cost of over 60,000 school-aged children and 1,000 college students. We have achieved so much, surpassed our goals, and empowered others towards long-term stability. I am very proud of our achievements and how we overcome all barriers and challenges in serving others.

For an organization that started with a small goal of helping the refugees from the Syrian war, we have expanded over the last seven years to supporting refugees and local communities in over eight countries including Turkey, Syria, Bangladesh, Jordan, Iraq, Lebanon, Ghana, and Sierra Leone. Where there is a need, there is a will to support. Our mission and values continue to guide us towards amplifying the plight of others and empowering them towards resiliency. Thank you for your commitment and for playing a critical role in our efforts to empower vulnerable communities worldwide. As we move towards the coming year, we are honored to have you join us as our supporter and friend.

Sincerely,

Mohamad Naser Albadawi
Chairman of the Board/President
About Mercy Without Limits

Since its establishment in 2012, MWL has been dedicated to addressing humanitarian needs for orphans, widows, and refugees regardless of age, gender, race, or religion. MWL initially specialized in aiding Syrian orphans and widows.

Mercy Without Limits Strives to meet the needs of neglected and underserved communities so that future generations may have the tools they need to create meaningful change in their own lives.

“We want to empower people to make positive change in their lives, the lives of their children, and for the community as a whole.”
Vision
A better world for children and women.

Mission
To educate and empower, children and women so they may have an effective and positive role in constructing a better society.

Promise
Mercy Without Limits strives to meet the needs of neglected and underserved communities so that future generations may have the tools they need to create meaningful change in their own lives. Working with partners around the world, we empower communities to recover, build resiliency, and thrive in the face of unfortunate circumstances.

MWL acknowledges that everyone deserves the necessities of life including: food, clean water, shelter, clothing, health services, and opportunities for sustainable growth.

MWL respects and supports all types of cultures, habits, and individual and community customs. MWL ensures that all stakeholders are involved in assessment, program designing, and implementing by activating all necessary tools to achieve the highest level of accountability.

MWL believes that all human beings have the right to the necessities regardless of their gender, age, religion, or ethnicity.
Ensuring people protection is an essential part of MWL mission. Three types of interventions have been adopted in MWL to provide these valuable services (Cash for Protection – Child Protection – Mine Action).

Cash for Protection (Orphans)

Orphans and their families are classified globally as most vulnerable groups who are in a major need for humanitarian assistance MWL has supported 5,271 in 8 different countries. The provided services included not just the cash money but all activities related to recover the psychological situation of the children such as recreational and psychosocial support activities. Plus, gifts, Eid clothes and many other services are provided based on assessed demands.

Project's Main Activities

- Bi-annual Health Check Ups for children
- Gifts & Eid Clothes
- Seasonal Food Baskets
- Follow ups after Health Check-Ups
Child Protection

Due to the conflict, poverty and economic difficulties impacts on children, treating children mental, physical and psychosocial problems has become one of the highest priorities in terms of humanitarian needs. Therefore, in 2019 MWL implemented 3 projects providing all activities related to child protection field according the humanitarian standards. the projects were implemented in partnership with largest humanitarian UN agencies such as UNICEF and OCAH. the activities, included recreational activities, structured and semi-structured PSS in MWL centers and though outreach team. awareness campaign and initiatives were conducted delivering massages to the children and their parents on the most important subjects such as personal hygiene, education, etc. Children with special needs were targeted in the all programs in order to engage them in social activities.

Education

Formal & Non-Formal Education

MWL, basically aimed to mitigate the risk of dropping children out of schools due to the crises and difficulties. Thus, MWL implemented several education projects meeting the huge demands of educational basic needs such as learning kits, rehabilitation schools, teachers' incentives etc. The intervention was through providing learning modalities suites with prevailing situation in most needed communities and adopted by global education clusters. Remedial, catch up, and accelerated learning programs (ALP) were provided to children so they could continue there learning and keeping their future better. Children with special needs, on the other hand, were prioritized and served in all projects without any kind of discrimination maintaining equal opportunities for the all vulnerable children. Back to learning campaigns were conducted to aware the local communities about the risk of negative coping behavior such as child labor, early marriage, recruitment in armored groups.

Food Security

MWL implemented two projects to provide basic food assistance for the food insecure people. The projects provided agriculture and livelihood services in partnership with UNOCAH in addition to services provided through MWL private funds. These projects aimed to improve the economic situation and decrease inflation and reduce the continuous livelihood depletion of the most vulnerable population. Food basket and Ready to Eat basket were distributed for most vulnerable families in and off camps especially for those affected by displacement waves within 2019.

Youth Empowerment

Mercy with Limits believes in youth and women as key factors and engines for developing any society. MWL implemented two projects in Turkey and Syria aiming to empower youth, adolescent and women as well. This was in order to take their roles as effective members in their society. Life skills, managerial skills and other knowledge and skills required for launching their own small business were provided through training sessions, focus group discussion and consultations. At the end of these projects, grants and bursaries were delivered to the best practical proposals to be implemented in the future.

Together, we can make a difference in the lives of others.
Health

With increased violence, war, and social instability around the world, many countries are suffering a medical crisis. Functioning health care facilities are being destroyed while those that continue to operate suffer from shortages of water, electricity and supplies. The insufficiency of health service facilities has led to the outbreak of diseases that were once preventable, and has significantly increased the morbidity and mortality rate in the communities we serve. Saving lives and improving the health care system for the conflict affected people is the ultimate goal of intervention in the health sector. Mercy without Limit has wide experience in health care services. thus, medicine, medical equipment and supplies were provided to three different countries Palestine, Yemen and Sierra Leone.

Lack of access to clean water and to basic sanitation, and low hygiene standards increase the vulnerability of people to epidemic outbreaks. WASH, therefore, represents one of the main sectors of humanitarian operations.

The Mercy Without Limits WASH program continued to expand in 2019 to meet standards and respond to major emergencies around the world. During 2019, over 26,000 people benefitted from improved water supplies that were directly associated with Mercy Without Limits.

Why is WASH important?

Lack of access to clean water and to basic sanitation, and low hygiene standards increase the vulnerability of people to epidemic outbreaks. WASH, therefore, represents one of the main sectors of humanitarian operations.

The Mercy Without Limits WASH program interventions were in some of the most remote and high priority operation in countries like Bangladesh, Sierra Leone & Syria.

WASH

(Water, Sanitation, & Hygiene)

Mercy Without Limits continues to be one of the leading agencies for implementing WASH (Water, Sanitation, and Hygiene) in over 4 countries. Ensuring availability and sustainable management of water and sanitation for all is our top priority. These include delivering safe and drinkable water, shower facilities, and improving sanitation to unreached populations.

- more than 700 children
  - under five years of age die from diarrhea due to unsafe water or poor sanitation.

- more than 2 billion
  - people live without access to safe water at home.
Mercy Without Limits reached vulnerable people in some of the most remote areas that do not have access to clean water.

Bangladesh

- 2,600 people gained access to clean water.

Syria
- 5,000 people gained access to clean water.
Shelter

Shelter is an essential part of humanitarian basic needs to ensure protection and dignity for the affected people in conflict areas. MWL could build environmentally friendly and sustainable shelters for refugees and internally displaced people from their homes. Several shelter projects were implemented by MWL in shape of cravens and tents as a proper response to expand shelter capacity in addition to improve the adequacy of shelter conditions.

Emergency Relief

When violence erupts, natural disasters happen, or war breaks out, life can change in a matter of minutes—shattering families and communities and driving millions to flee. For more than 7 years, Mercy Without Limits has provided emergency food assistance, medical relief, and shelter, often in conflict, post-conflict or disaster situations.

Refugee Crisis in Bangladesh

Nearly 700,000 people from the ethnic Rohingya minority fled for their lives, seeking refuge in Bangladesh. Many arrived exhausted, sick and hungry in need of international protection and humanitarian assistance. In 2019 the rate of refugees continued to increase and more than 40% are under the age of 12.

In 2018 Mercy Without Limits increased the distribution of food and essential survival supplies. We provided medical care, shelter, sanitation and hygiene. Our 2 informal schools provided safe places for children to learn, play, and look forward to a brighter future for over 500 students. Mercy Without Limits built shelter homes for 50 families provided food packets to over 600 families.

Seasonal Projects

As the season changes, with it does a community’s needs. Working in some of the poorest communities, we improve life expectations and foster hope through projects that provide access to food, clothing, and bring joy and warmth to children and families during important times.

Projects include the distribution of food baskets, prepared hot meals, Qurbani, Eid gifts, Eid carnivals, and winterization kits.

For most countries we currently serve, Ramadan is an important month of the year. Muslims around the world observe the daily fast to increase spirituality and feel for the needy. During this time people are empathetic towards one another and are encouraged to help others in need. Following this month come two holidays, Eid Al-Fitr and Eid Al-Adha. Eid Al-Fitr is a time of celebration marking the end of the month of Ramadan, while Eid Al-Adha is known for its Qurbani sacrifice of an animal that is fed to families who are experiencing hunger.

The winter season can bring with its harsh rains and heavy snow in many regions. MWL has distributed winterization items to orphans in countries experiencing cold winters. Items included heaters, winter outfits, and diesel gallons, which aimed to provide warmth and prevent illness due to the weather.

Domestic Programs

Ride for Orphans

The Motorcyclist Imam - Ahmed Elkhaldy through Ride of Orphans - drove across the country while raising awareness for the orphan plight around the world, youth development through positive examples and finding your own legacy, and public education and outreach to our fellow Americans.

He extensively visited cities in the west coast this year, a 300-mile radius from Southern California to Fresno, and was hosted by Motorcycle clubs, rotary clubs, churches, mosques, Islamic Schools, weekend schools, Muslim Student Associations, and youth camps. Through this innovative campaign, hundreds of orphans and many water wells were sponsored to benefit the communities worldwide.

Ahmed Elkhaldy has become an icon among the youth. He encourages the youth to bring positive change in their communities and leave a legacy, while living their dream and be adventurous. Young and old have jumped on this campaign by holding bake sales to sponsor orphans, giving up their savings, and hosting Imam Ahmed.
While riding, he has come across many people who have donated and inquired about the cause.

Health Clinic

Earlier this year, Mercy Without Limits has partnered with Mercy Health Free Clinic in Kansas City, MO. Our collaborative efforts are to expand clinic outreach, volunteerism, and provide educational workshops to build for a healthier community.

World Refugee Day

On June 22, Mercy Without Limits was invited to speak as keynote for a World Refugee Day event in Kansas City, alongside Mayor Sly James and Kansas Representative Sharice Davids. The event was hosted by the Jewish Vocational Services, whom is actively and vocally involved in refugee resettlement. It was a day of celebration for refugees, filled with dance, music, food, and entertainment, uniting refugees from all backgrounds and recognizing organizations who work endlessly to help refugees.

Camp Mercy

Upon seeking refuge in the United States, many refugees experience difficulty transitioning and settling into their new home. With the support of local partners, Mercy Without Limits conducted its first four-week program model to provide psychosocial and skill-building support to the refugee community in Kansas. The program also aimed to reduce refugee stress and feelings of loneliness, by fostering their relationships with other local residents. Two sessions were conducted at the same time every week, one for adults and the other for children. Activities were chosen based on a previously completed needs’ assessment prior to the start of the program, which included painting, robotics, sewing, hair cutting, and a diabetes prevention workshop. Our goal upon the end of the program was to strengthen refugee resiliency, community relations, and provide a safe space for at least 20 refugee individuals per session. Results showed positive feedback from participants and the need for similar programs.
Advocacy

Mercy Without Limits believes all human beings have the right to live a life of dignity, opportunity, and purpose. We strive to empower citizens of the U.S. and citizens of the world to recover, build resiliency, and thrive in the face of disparity. As such, we proudly attend and participate in advocacy events to raise awareness of the plights of vulnerable people and to present recommendations which protect their rights and dignity.

In the past year, Mercy Without Limits staff and volunteers attended the following events:

- World Bank/International Monetary Fund Spring Meetings
- World Bank/International Monetary Fund Annual Meetings
- U.S. Council of Muslim Organizations Muslim Advocacy Day
- InterAction Forum
  (Our organization is also a member of several working groups at InterAction, including co-chair for the GBV working group)
