ORPHAN CARE

Millions of children around the world remain helplessly trapped in a vicious cycle of disadvantaged circumstances. Circumstances such as poverty, war, and environmental disasters. These circumstances predispose children to malnutrition, violence, sickness, and early death. Of these children, the most vulnerable are the orphans who do not have the support or loving arms of a family to rely on.

Mercy Without Limits' orphan sponsorship program is designed to guarantee the well-being of each child through targeted initiatives. These initiatives focus on four primary principals: nourishment, shelter, health, and education.

ORPHAN STORIES

MEET MARIAM

At just 13-years old, Mariam lost her father, been homeless, and stopped going to school. As she explains, "with his death, we lost everything. We lost our home. We couldn't pay rent, so we were evicted. Because we didn't have money we couldn't attend school".

Mariam is one of the many orphans in Ghana that Mercy Without Limits supports their education by covering their tuition costs and supply fees. Mariam dream is to become a doctor.

Dreams

ALI'S DREAM

At 14-years old, Ali's dream was to become a sailor and help fleeing refugees. That was before the war robbed him of his dreams, family, friends, and home.

Mercy Without Limits works with psychologists and social workers to make sure Ali and every child has a shoulder to cry on, listening ears to voice their fears, and someone who will teach them coping strategies.
