Goodness Across the Globe

Even though Ramadan has ended, we never stop working. At Mercy Without Limits, our humanitarian efforts continue all year long – there are always volunteers on the ground striving tirelessly to help those in need in any way they can. This is our pleasure, the reward is in the work itself and in the hereafter, and we’re honored to have been blessed with our family of exceptional staff and supporters.

Here are several samples of the projects we’ve been working on

Thanks to your help, we’ve provided resources and relief to thousands.
Solar Support for Rohingya Refugees

As the weather warms up and heat waves become increasingly common, our team in Bangladesh wanted to ensure little ones living in the Rohingya camps were provided comfortable settings to study in. During Ramadan, we began setting up solar panels at various locations in the camps to power fans in mosques where groups of children gather for classes. The heat was so harsh it was making it difficult for the kiddos to concentrate – but with the addition of the fans it has made things much more comfortable for these determined little ones.

Our team was excited to set up the solar panels.
Supplies were received and the kind supporter was celebrated.

Fans were installed inside and checked to ensure they were connected.

Indoors were made more comfortable for adults and children alike.
Our Promise to Provide for Orphans

Of the main work we do towards our mission, providing for orphans plays a precious role. Our commitment to do our very best to bring any aid available to these courageous children is a big part of what keeps us working hard all year long. These last few weeks, our extensive team has helped by handing out cash, food and school supplies to orphans in our care in various countries.
We are honored to help enable education among displaced orphans.

Communities care for their inhabitants, but often still need help.

Equipping widows to care for themselves and their orphaned children is a major part of our mission.
Building for a Better World

Our team in Syria has been working on housing displaced families who have been left with very little due to their difficult circumstances. With the help of our dedicated donors, we have been able to build homes for families who have been waiting for stability for some time now.

We couldn’t have done it without you!

Thousands will be thrilled to have security in the settlement.
Work to improve the world is always worth it.

MWL is proud of our passionate team of hard-working heroes.
Our team prioritizes quality in every program we provide.

These little ones can’t wait to be home!
Educating Our Future Humanitarian Heroes

Education is a vital tool that helps prepare children to lead productive adult lives and aid others around them. Mercy Without Limits aims to enable those who have been left in difficult circumstances due to conflict, disaster and displacement to aspire and achieve their dreams. We work to bring these brave souls to a place in their lives where they are independent financially, and can go on to help others in their families and uplift their communities.

This past month, we helped several school-aged orphans along with college-aged orphans achieve academically, with the dedication of our team of volunteers, staff, and supporters.

Teaching is a tremendous opportunity to improve the world.
Engaging activities complement academics.

Fun fuels creativity.

Our staff is always delighted to work with these amazing young minds.
Field trips refreshed little learners.

Everyone adored the farm fun!

Science and discovery activities brought these kiddos to learn about bees.
Orphans are enduring and inquisitive – and enjoy their opportunities to grow.

Working for Widows’ Well-being

Women in developing countries are at a higher risk of being left widowed due to difficult living situations, poor health and conflict. It can be a challenge for these women to continue to care for themselves and their children, having relied on someone else to provide for them and protect them for so long.
Our team is passionate about educating and empowering women - and widows are often in desperate need of opportunities. We run workshops to train widows in sewing, food production and hairdressing, to equip them with talents they can use to find work and take care of themselves and their children. We have also recently opened up a factory worked and run entirely by widows, where they are trained in sewing and embroidery; and produce clothing for children, providing for orphans specifically. Work opportunities like this enable them to learn and perfect their abilities, as well as gain real-life work experience, while providing a source of income for their little ones.
A bazaar brought business for these widows’ hard work.

Our international team is proud to provide for these wonderful women.
The last month of the Islamic calendar – Dhul Hijjah – is a crucial month in our faith, a time which contains several days of importance. Ramadan is known for its eminence and the power of prayer throughout that holy time; however, the beauty of the most beloved days is rarely spoken of, and often goes overlooked.

The first ten days of Dhul Hijjah are significant in that they are the days in which Hajj is performed. For Muslims not performing Hajj, these days still have the potential to be life-changing.
Ibn Abbas reported: The Prophet (SAW - peace and blessings be upon him) said, “No good deeds are better than what is done in these first ten days of Dhul-Hijjah.” Some companions of the Prophet said, “Not even jihad in the way of Allah?” The Prophet said, “Not even jihad in the way of Allah, except for a man who goes out with his life and wealth at risk and he returns with nothing.”

The beauty of these beloved days is in the excess blessing we can receive.
ALLAH also swears by these days in the Quran, as is confirmed and expounded upon by the scholars:

ALLAH (SWT - exalted is He) says:
“By the dawn, and by the 10 nights,”
[Qur’an, 89:1-2].

Ibn ‘Abbas, Ibn al-Zubayr, Mujahid, and others of the earlier and later generations said that this refers to the first ten days of Dhul Hijjah. Ibn Katheer said:
“This is the correct opinion.”

These sources clarify the importance of the first 10 days of Dhul Hijjah; which provides us with motivation to take an active approach to our faith and our deeds during this time. We always want to maximize our deeds when they count for more, and so pushing to be our absolute best selves and do even more for our faith during these holy days is crucial.

The Prophet (SAW) also used to fast on these days, particularly on the Day of Arafat, the last of these blessed days before Eid Al Adha. Fasting on the Day of Arafat removes a believer’s misdeeds for the entire previous year, as well as for the year to come. The majority of us will try our best to fast on the Day of Arafat, at the very least, for this enormous benefit.
What We’re Doing on the Most Beloved Days of the Year

We at Mercy Without Limits work to help those in need around the world all year long. In our dedication to this cause, we provide the seasonal service of Udhiyah/Qurbani yearly to all our supporters. This is a way in which we help our contributors in following the sunnah/traditions of the Prophet (SAW) along with helping those who are lacking food in underserved communities. Slaughtered animals will provide meat to thousands of individuals, giving them the ability to celebrate their Eid holiday with the same quality of protein any of us would love to have.

We know that meat isn’t all that displaced and struggling families need, and for this reason, MWL will be including packages along with Qurbani meat, to provide even more benefit on both sides.
We will incorporate three different packages for the season:

- ✔️ Qurbani plus a Food Basket
- ✔️ Qurbani plus Eid Clothes
- ✔️ Qurbani plus Eid Gifts

This way, we offer our supporters the opportunity to bring both comfort and the ability to celebrate to beneficiaries.

“Abu Huraira reported: The Prophet, peace and blessings be upon him, said, “Give each other gifts and you will love each other.”

Bringing celebration is crucial to our cause.
Spreading love across the world is a major part of our mission, as love inspires mercy, which leads to a world where love and mercy would encourage everyone to offer a helping hand by any means they can.
